UNDERSTANDING ESTIMATING SYSTEM PROCEDURE PAGES

Are you working for free? The answer to that is yes if your estimators are not identifying every necessary labor operation and placing them on the estimate. Knowing and understanding how to use your estimating system procedure pages is the foundation of writing accurate repair plans that identify, document and justify all necessary labor operations. In this session, new estimators will discover additional labor hours they may have been missing by focusing on key areas of the labor guides. Experienced estimators may also benefit from this session by refreshing their knowledge of estimating system labor guides helping them build a more technically accurate and profitable estimate.

The screenshot displays a software interface for estimating. On the left is the 'MOTOR INFORMATION SYSTEMS' logo and a 'CED GUIDE TO ESTIMATING' menu with categories: GENERAL INFORMATION, INDUSTRY DEFINITIONS, SPECIAL PRECAUTIONS, LABOR PROCEDURES, MOLDINGS, STRIPE & DRILL TAPE, and REFINISHING PROCEDURES. The main area shows a 'mitchell' logo and a vehicle diagram with parts labeled: HOOD (3), LUGGAGE LID/LIFTGATE (3), QUARTER PANEL (2), FENDER (2), DOOR (Each), and PICKUP BED INSIDE (5). To the right is the 'Audatex Database Reference Manual' table.
